A SUITABLE MEMORIAL . . .
The approach of the 1953 opening of the Lindsay Central Exhibition brings to mind the fact that no plans have been advanced to commemorate the contribution of the late B. L. McLean to the success of this Class A of the late. 3. L. McLean to the success of this Glass a Ontario agricultural show. M. Nickean served as sectary-manager of the exhibition for many years and easy the grow from a relatively small fair to its present status. He was responsible for promoting selvanger of the provening which is the provening the property of the province of the property of the province of the provinc

rating
Mr. McLean's knowledge of fair management was recognized across the Province and his advice was frequently sought. He fook an interest in other fairs where progress and, as he often said, "there's always something or substantial or consideration be given to a suitable "B. L. McLean Mesonical" in recognition of his service to the Lindsay Central Exhibition? It would seem only the best high a me whose name has enjoyed the high a me whose name has consideration to the control exhibition? right that a man whose name has so long been associat-ed with the exhibition should have his contribution comed with the exhibition should need the which the memorated on the grounds.

Assuming that there is agreement with this suggestion, what type of memorial would be most satisfactory Would a memorial rate at the main entrance be the would a monitorist gate it the main extracted be answer or has someone something more original and practical to suggest? This is something upon which an expression of opinion from the public would be interesting. Who will advance some thoughts on t matter so that it might be possible to get action on the memorial before the fair opens in another month.

ARE ICE CREAM CONES SANITARY?

During these hot days thousands upon thousands of ice cream cones will be devoured by sweltering mul-titudes. Ice cream itself, eaten in moderation, is recogtitudes. Lee cream fisself, satten in moderation, it recognized as a healthful food but in view of certain observa-tions it would seem that the ice cream cone as a method of dispensation is open to question from a standpoint of sanitation. The sale of lee cream is not in any way restricted nor is it protected by the laws of, handling which apply to restaurants and cuterers. Almost any-one can get an agency and the only qualify "dish is out." one can get an agency and the only quantitation necessary to serve it appears to be the shillift to "dish it out."
Thus it comes about that a person may drop whatever task they have been doing, reach for the scoop and cones and begin serving ice cream. Not infrequently the conditions under which secops are kept in between servings is added reason for doubting the healthful quali-

The manufacturers of ice cream, while not turning their backs on the ice cream cone outlet, have made commendable contributions towards improving methodos of distribution. They have encouraged the sale of ice cream in a variety of convenient packages and have devised numerous novelty methods of dispensation which, to all outward appearances, are much more sanitary than the ice cream cone.

The sale of ice cream via the cone method could be kept on a reasonably sanitary basis by adequate dispensing supervision but this has not yet been achieved. The only other answers appear to lie in either finding a more satisfactory way of dispensing cones of ice cream or in-venting something more appealing than the ice cream cone and not subject to improper handling.

Laugh It Off...

Trying to bring home to his audience the evils of drink, the speaker was telling them how his own life had been influenced by total abstinence.

"Three years ago," he said proudly, "there were two men in my office holding positions superior to mine. One was dismissed for drunkenness; the other was led into crime, and is now serving a term in prison, all intrough strong drink. So I am now head of my department. I ask you, "he wound up, "what has raised me to my present position?"

"Drink!" came the unexpected reply from the back of the hell.

he hall. ——The Labour Leader
The old gentleman was buying a pair of shoes. He said he didn't think the leather was very good. The salesman said, "The leather in those shoes will last long-er than you do."

The elderly gentleman, who was 96, said, "You , that's where you're wrong. Statistics show that ir people die after 96 years of age than at any other age up to that time."

"When I was a boy," reminisced a famous lawyer.

"my highest ambition was to be a pirate."
"That so?" said his client. "Congratulations."

CONTroller Paul Tardif, confronted by the proposal of Mayor Whitton that Ottawa make some small official recognition of an Ottawa lady's contribution to drama, made the imperishable remark, "What champiouship did

The Mayor's idea was that Miss Amelia Hall, for her sphendid performance at Stratford in the Shakespearen Festival and her efforts to give Ottava permanen Festival and her efforts to give Ottava permanen Festival and Labarra should receive a civic honor of some consection of the properties of the propertie

NAMING STREETS

A street name becomes important to those who gather around it associations of childhood and neighbors. Perhaps we are premature in attaching names to the streets of a new subdivision and some index number could be used until each street has gathered life and incident to itself. Then the people of the neighborhood could choose their own street names, recalling the local history, personalities and events of their settlement, as their forefathers had done.

STRIKE VIOLENCE PUNISHED.

Jail terms, running from 10 days to one month, imposed on 18 gold miners at Timmins are a timely reminder to all strikers. It is that men have no right to take the law into their own hands simply because they are on strike. Any violence is crime during a strike just

The convicted men had brutally assaulted nonstrikers, and the magistrate rightly condemned this violation of the rules of peaceful picketing. It will be violation to the rules of peacetin processing. It will noted of these 18 members of the goon squad only six were employees of the mine involved. It always is dangerous to bring in outside men on a strike. Those who volunteer are apt to be of an irresponsible and roughneck variety, who bring trouble to peaceful picketers.

TOO READY TO SHOOT?

A Toronto police constable who shot and killed a youth climbing over a wall to escape arrest is being charged with manslaughter. The youth had been trespassing in a back yard, and for his foolishness in trying to get away from the constable he was killed. Too many policemen are too ready to use their revolvers incidents such as this confirm us in our opinion. Surely there ought to be some distinction between, say a man caught in the act of murder and about to escape and a young chap guilty, so far as the constable knows, of nothing more serious than loitering!

COLOR TV ON THE WAY After years of fuzziness the color television picture is finally beginning to make sense. The Federal Communication Commission's move to authorize a compatible color system—one which can be received in black and white on existing sets—very probably means that color TV will soon be a reality rather than an ex-periment. With better luck and better management, perment. With better luck and better management, it is desirable result might have been achieved even earlier, but national defance needs impeded faster development, and the FCC, as it turned out, went off on a sidetrack with its approval in 1500 of the Columbia Broadcasting System's non-compatible system, which would have been completely ineffective on existing sets except with the dedition of a converter.

C. B. S. has now joined the Radio Corporation of American and other telecasters in the National Televis-ion System Committee in accepting the compatible system. Since no opposition is expected, the likelihood is that the F.C.C. will give its approval to the new system without a public hearing some time next month. Several problems will still confront the television industry and the television public, of course. Color TV sets will be more expensive than black-and-white models, at least at the start, and the economic realities of the situation will have to be met. Even a tougher problem may be the question of program content, which is television's constant of propriate the program content. constant stumbling block. Once the novelty has worn off, audiences may decide that poor programs in color are no more palatable than poor programs in black and white, and just as easy to turn off. But the continuing progress in the technology of television at least raises the hope that similar progress in programming may yet set in. When it does, color television will certainly become a valued embellishment of American life.

SIR JOHN SAID IT

SIR JOHN SAID I Sir John A. Macdonald, after suffering a deteat at the polls, made the remark: "The majority have a right to be wrong." It is the consoling kind of philosophy which Conservatives in Canada might take to their hearts in the present day. Nevertheless SIr John made it plain that he wasn't natisfied, not even with a popular verdict against him. He simply went to work, because he knew one thing about politics. As a vocation, pursuit or business, it is the most volatile in all the field of human endeavor.

Starlas, like other powdered skim milk, is whole milk with the fat and water removed. But there the resemblance ends. Compare, and you'll see that Starlae has a true milk flavour— the result of Borden's experience, gained in over 50 years of manufacturing and processing dairy products in Canada.

WHO CAN BEST RUN OUR HOSPITALS?

WHO CAN BEST RUN OUR HOSPITALS?

The above question is asked and answered in the current issue of "Hospital Highlights" by the president of the Ontario Hospital Association. Significantly, in his discourse on the subject, the president drive his points relative to hospital make of the points relative to hospital make points relative to hospital make the points of t times by the reservation president may be of assistance and serve to further enlighten district residents during the present Ross Memorial Hospital reorganization program, with subsent benefits to the hospital in improved public relations and tinancial structure.

Here are the president's comments;

"Hospital trustees and administrators are being challenged as never before to answer this question. Providing accommodation, facilities and treatment services greatly superior to anything available heretofore and at relatively low rates compared with other services and commodities, in itself is evidently not sufficient. Prescommodities, in itself is evidently not suntient. Per ent hospital charges are well in line with those of form-er years, particularly since the average stay is much shorter and most of the expensive services are provided in the first two or three days. Your 'Association's Public Relations Department has done a great deal to enlighten our citizens but much still remains for all of us in any way connected with hospitals to see that the pub lic generally is provided with facts and figures and, if possible, of their own hospital.

"Why when the continuous mumuring and, at times, loud clamourings for government hospitalization? Too many people have the mistaken idea that anything they many people have the mistaken idea toak anytung usey get from the government is free, when actually we can provide most of these things more economically for our-selves. Governments can only expend the people's money; and centralized control, either Provincial or Federal, could hardly increase efficiency. Government regulation and inspection, by all means, but governnt operation and administration is something entire ly different. Under the present system our hospitals have the tremendous advantage of a small army of industrialists, bankers, merchants, lawyers and financ-iers, who gave their services voluntarily. Having been successful in their own enterprises and without political pressure or interference, they provide the best possible aid for hospital management. Present inadequate stat-utory rates for indigents are doing more, perhaps, than anything else to create an undercurrent of disastisfaction with our hospitals. When a government enacts legisla tion making certain grants and municipal charges applic able to indigents, the public can hardly be blamed if they expect these to cover the hospital's actual costs. Because so-called "hospital deficits" are incurred then, particularly since no extras are paid for at all, criticism is certain to be levelled at hospital management. Be-cause of this, the lives of many hospital trustees are made unbearable, and unless this situation is corrected, it may be very difficult to continue getting successful and self respecting business men to act on hospital

"The Directors, of your Association have wrestled this problem for some time, and at the last meetwith this problem for some time, and at the last meeting of the Board, a committee was appointed to prepare a brief for presentation to the Prime Minister and his Cabinet when the Legislature convenes in the fall. WHY A TRAIN WHISTLE?

For a great part of the century and more that railroads have been with us, whistles were considered as inseparable a part of them as the drive wheels. The latter are on their way out with the entry of diesels, and if the Oshawa City Council has its way the whistles will

It may seem exquisitely fitting that the initiative should thus come from the motor city, even if its main industry does make diesels on the side. But the fact is that for three or four decades at least, train whistles have been gradually losing caste, especially in urban have been gradually losing casts, especially in ureas areas. Crossing bells and signals largely obviate them in Toronto and other large clies, and our marker front switching engines for blessed esteem among the motoring public) have discarded them on one of the motoring public) have discarded them of comparation of the properties of t

In truth, whistles have always had their limitations.
Sometimes they shooed stray hinterland animals off the

So long as people sat on wagon seats or buggy cushions they had a good chance of hearing the shrill warning of the five-ten. But with the arrival of the first closed car. they had a good cannot on neutron two street closed sea the five-tea. But with the good to be expendable. Too often it doesn't present to be expendable. Too often it doesn't penetrate to the occupants of modern whiles, at least until it is too hat to help. For that reason it is often an actual hazard rather than precaution, since both engineer and motorist still depend instinctively on what is already a legend. So about four-fifther of the rancous counterpoint that assaults the countryside could probably be muted to the general good. RHYME AND REASON

From the point of view of cost alone, n parks and beauty-spots have to be terse and to the point. But this terseness, by cutting out the small words of courtesy such as "please," turns them sometimes into brusque orders which produce a certain reader resist If that resistance is strong enough, the object of

A small town offers an idea which might be of interest to parks' authorities and to those concerned with the National Beautification Campaign. This town had the National Beautification Campaign. This town had a piece of land which it decided to make into a park. The land was small, oblong in shape, uneven and with a river wigging its way through the middle of it. However, bushes placed strategically to cut off the view of nearby buildings gave it an apparent remoteness and landscaping with rockeries and terraces, a couple of rustle bridges and some seats, made it a delightful place to while away

The main problem was to get people to keep the place neat and tidy. For this purpose, the town Council hired a local scribe, a "mute, inglorious Milton" perhaps, to turn the notices into verse. The little boards which in other parks would have carred the command "Keep off the Grass" in this one read as follows:

"Let no one say, And say it to your shame, That all was beauty here—

Other notices had similar verses and it was surprising how much appeal they bore to the public mind.

People far from ignoring them, deliberately sought for them as they strolled through the park and pointed them out to visitors as something quaint and in keeping with the atmosphere of the place. It certainly seems an idea worthy of more general application — an ingenious method of employing rhyme to emphasize the force of reason—Picton Times.

"THE GIANTS IS DEAD"

"THE GIANTS IS DEAD"

An American broadcaster, Allan Jackson of CBS, recently ventured into the quaking muskeg of grammar and Engishs siyle. He explained how usage in some places prefers a collective noun to be followed by the plural form of a verb, while in others it tavors the singular. For example: "The government are," or "the government ar by Mr. Charley Dressen, manager of the Brooklyn Dodg-ers, with reference to the ancient enemy over in the Polo Grounds. Once a threat to the champions of the National League, the New Yorkers have fallen upon evil days since mid-season of this 1953 pennant race. This prompted Mr. Dressen to observe, not in any spirit of gloating but as a simple statement of incontrovertible fact, "The Giants is dead."

Someone appealed to the New York Board of Edu-cation on a point of grammar. One authority supported Mr. Dressen to the hill. He took the Giants to be a collective noun "just as you say the United States is, not are."

He pointed out that Mr. Dressen would have been in error, had one member of the Giants been still alive, "Batt," he observed the authority, obviously as embittered as well as a learned man "every member of this entity is dead, hence the Giants is dead."

Laugh It Off...

"It says here in the newspaper," said the old gentle-man, "that a man is run over in New York every half hour."

"Dear me!" said the old lady. "The poor fellow!"

3-Bottom Mounted Plow

Fall plowing gives the WD and its new 3-bottom plow a chance to show what they can do. Let us prove to you that the WD will do the work of a much heavier tractor and that the new separa-built plow is built to take it.

Two Alim-Chaimers teatures:

h HYPRAULIC TRACTION BOOSTER automatically puts extra weight on the WD rear wheels as the drawbar loell increases. Takes off the extra weight as soon as you pass the tough spot.

you pass use ougan spot.

THE PLOW IS FREE-SWINGING, It follows contours and is free to dodge rocks. Short-coupled hitch gives quick penetration at the ends and mounts the plow bottoms close to the rear wheels for uniform depth control.

Let us prove it in your own fields.

An unhappy ending would appear to be in prospe for the government-sponsored scheme to provide fr textbooks for Ontario school children. And, even if the predicted unhappy ending for the scheme is not reached quickly, its pathway is almost .certainly likely to be strewn with obstacles objections and dissatisfaction. Because it is basically an unsatisfactory at rangement.

One of the features of the arrangement which tends to make it unsatisfactory is that it takes away from the pupil's individuality. Every child likes to possess its own books or, if it is necessary to accept and-me-downs, they prefer to have them from hand-me-dowes, they prefer to have them from within the family which permits them to possession on an over-enship beas, even though it is treasured. The present and the present and the present arrangement is the condition of some of the extroors which are passed along. Some of these, despite the fact that efforts are made to keep them protected with book covers during the school term, are saything but clean and some hare been found to be objectively.

The free textbook arrangement has all ti marks of government paternalism which is neither ap-preciated by the parents nor the students in most cases. Any saving effected parents in the purchase of textbooks ally negligible and has been greatly exaggerated. It fficult to see any tangible evidence of the scheme's advantage to children

WHAT CAN BE DONE ABOUT SMASHING BOTTLES ON THE STREET?

SMASHING BOTTLES ON THE STREET.

There has been an alarming increase in the number of bottles which have been smashed to pieces on Linday's streets. It is a distressing situation and one to which authorities will eventually have to give some stiention on either a preventative or remedial basis some means cannot be found to discourage this infantile practice which presents so many hazards, then it seems almost inevitable that something will have to be done remove the shattered remains as quickly as possible af-ter discovery. How can this be arranged? . . . The only practical arrangement would appear to lie in having one of the town's public service departments made respon sible for glass removal, letting this be known to townspeople so that they might report glass str dencies of a minority group but who will deny that there could inflict painful injuries on an unwary child who happened to step or fall on a jagged piece. Therefore, while urging action to have the results of wanton bottle smashing removed, this paper would advocate the an

OTHERS SAY MECHANICAL BAGPIPES

MECHANICAL BAGFIPES
What terrible news is this we hear from Old London? That mechanical bagnipes have been invented:
Just plug-in, and the contraption gives forth sounds equal to the best a piper can produce.

We canna' belive it! Ye can get a calllope to gie a fair imitation of a band if your ear for music is not very fair limitation of a name it your ear for mouse is not every sensitive, but Scots will deny with their last breath that a soutless box of machinery can match the cares-sing touch and the nuances of a man with Highland blood in bis veins. The danged thing would stop if the machine blew a fuse. The very idea is enough to gar a Scotsman blaw a fuse himself!

Besides what Scottish regiment would want to march shin's mechanical set o' pipes drawn by a tractor? The pipes are little in themselves without the iartans and the waggle o' the kilt. There will be ab-other rebellion among Highlanders if the pipers are tas he displaced by something akin to what is known as "a kist o' whistles".

MEN IN THE KITCHEN

An international conference of women in London the other day endorsed a resolution to the effect that men should help their wives in the home. So far as we men should neep their wives in the nome. So lar as we could ascertain there were no dissentient voices.

The majority of men in Canada and the United States do help the little woman around the house. If it is only in the matter of wiping the dishes. Polls have shown that to be the case. But in other countries, and that includes the enlightened British Isles, there is much less inclination to help the wife and mother. Husbands and sons are more inclined to regard home as the wo-man's domain, and it is mother's job, and her daughters' if she has any, to do all the work in it, even to the extent of cleaning the men's shoes.

The old adage that "Woman's work is nev

The old adage that "Woman's work is level" to cuts little lee with people on the other side of the Atlantic. But most fathers and sons today on this side of the ocean, feel that they have a moral duty toward mother to give a little help so that she can get more rest and more leisure. It may be father's primary duty to bring home the bacon and mother's to cook it, but all having eaten it, and created a sense of family comradeship, many Canadian and American men feel a moral responsibility to do something toward eliminating the situation that woman's work is never done. Many nay have his eight-hour day and his five-day week, but he woman who "keeps" house and "makes" a home two different but very important things - generally starts work before her man gets up in the morning, and may be washing up a few bed-time snack dishes after he has gone to bed. And that goes on seven days a week.

A few hardy fishermen braved last Sunday's cold, damp weather to continue the long summer search for the biggest fish. September days often provide better fishing temperatures than July or August — and better catches. Also braving the Sunday weather were some sporting gentry with guns. The cold, gray skies had put them in mind of partridge and duck-hunting October and November days, it seems. Perhaps, however, the men we saw Sunday afternoon along the west shore of Pigeon Lake in Victoria county, were after coops or rabbits, for which the season has opened. This seems odd, however, in the marshy area famous for grouse and ducks. From The same quiet country road winding beside the lake, could be seen men in several boats. They had no fishing lines. Perhaps they were preparing hides for duck-shooting later; perhaps they were merely hiding some other equipment when cars passed by. -Peterborough Examiner town, but Hamilton does not seem to have the sharptown, but Hamilton does not seem to have the sharp-shooters on its police force that Poterborough boasts. Here a favourite method of pigeon control has been picking them off ligh eaves downtown with builders, fired by constables stationed below at six in the morning, a time deliberately chosen so that nothing but pigeons will be laid low. In Hamilton the anti-pigeon committee of the city council has decided to feed pigeons grain soaked in liquor, so that the birds become tipsy and fall off the caves all by themselves. Thereafter the besotten birds will be garnered from the pavement and taken to the pound to be destroyed.

taken to the pound to be destroyed.

The method has roused the ire of temperance people in Hamilton. They are shocked. One member of the WCTU (Women's Christian Temperance Union) has been reported as saying: "If the wise heads of our city seen reported as agyig: It the was clease of our cannot find a better method, they should not be permit-ted to remain in office." We are inclined to agree with the lady. And also with the Presbyteran minister in Hamilton who said: "The whole thing already has some too far without sending the pigeons on a drinking spree." It seems to us a shocking waste of liquor.

On the other hand, what could be more humane? A condemned man is given a specially good meal of his own choice before he leaves his cell for the gallows. To send a pigeon into bilasful oblivion before he passes on —or rather is passed to the pound for destruction— is the cup (well, thimble-full) of kindness to dumb animais. It is much more charitable than poising an armed Hamilton cop a couple of hundred yards below the unwanted bird, and letting him take a wavering the fellow, might scare the poor creature o death, even though he did not wing it. However, weighing the pros of charity and cons of expense onsider that liquor is too high a price to pay for the euthanasia of pigeons.—Peterborough Examine wishes of only two of the many races that wis continuous to the future of Canada are being considered.

There is actually little confusion as matters stand at present. Mether it is the Union Jack or the Red Sasjan that is flown, the same purpose is accomplished. If the Union Jack inspires loyality to Canada in Outario and another flag in Quebee inspires the same loyality the difference between the two flags is inconsequential. the difference between the two hags is inconsequently.

The same end is being achieved. The only danger is that the loyalty in each case may not extend to the whole of Canada or may not exclude loyalty to any other country. A flag is a symbol of a unified country demanding complete loyalty from every citizen, a loyalty not shared with any other country or restricted in appli-cation to one nationalistic group within the country itcation to the manda achieves complete integration as a nation, with all component races playing their part for Canada alone, then the time will be ripe for a flag. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.
